Sheddies' Chatter

Difficult Question

Another month has passed and we are well on the way towards the end of the internal fit out. We applied for our "pre lining" and "plumbing" inspection and have had both of these approved after the visit of the Council inspector. The guys have really pulled out the stops and all but completed the lining in the workshop and there is never a shortage of keen supervisors on hand. What a difference it has made to the look of the workshop. On Monday 1st October the Gib Board is to be delivered and then we can get into the utilities area and line that.

"When do you expect the Shed build to be completed" ? is the question we are repeatedly asked. This is a difficult question as we never know how many members are going to turn up to help. Over the past four months the numbers have ranged from eight up to seventeen per day and we are averaging fifty three hours each day. If this continues for the next ten days (Mondays and Wednesdays) we expect to have all the fit out completed and will then move onto firming up the layout of the workshop.

So I guess the answer to the question could be early November, when we should be heading to Council for our Code of Compliance certificate.

Date for your diary

We along with other community groups have been invited to participate in the upcoming "Amazing Place Glenfield" to be held on Saturday 3rd November and have chosen to have a display outside 12 Chartwell Avenue. The event will commence at 2:00pm and end at Glenfield Primary School at 5:00pm where participants will collect their prizes. The route for the walk can be seen at: <http://goo.gl/maps/Sc8tq>. We would love to see you at our display.
